traces/memories

Memories, pressed between the pages of my mind;

Memories, sweetened through the ages just like wine;

Quiet thoughts come floating down

And settle softly to the ground,

Like golden autumn leaves around my feet,

I touch them, and they burst apart

With sweet memories.

Painted photographs, covered now with lines and creases;

Tickets torn in half, memories in bits and pieces;

Traces of love long ago, that didn't work out right.

Traces of love, of holding hands and replicas,

Of twilight's dimly purple haze,

Of laughing eyes, and simple ways,

Quiet nights, and gentle days.

Memories, pressed between the pages of my mind.

Have a good year at BLA next year!

Dear Bob -
I'm glad you came to D.L.A.
Your presence here has been an asset for the school. I'm expecting you to be a real leader in the school years ahead. Keep smiling - and follow Christ each day.

Dear Bob -
I have enjoyed so much having you in class this year. I hope you always keep your cheerful smile - and remember to keep your
"margins" straight. May God bless you always!
Mrs. Hessel

Our school is unique among high schools because students pay for part, if not all of their schooling by working on campus. There are two Academy industries that employ a majority of the students. These are the Craftshop, which makes casual patio furniture, and the Bakery. Other jobs include campus maintenance, janitorial work, and reading for the teachers.

cum laude staff makes good

Along with putting out the yearbook, being editor of the school paper is one of the busiest jobs on campus. This task was taken on by Diana Houseman. It was the goal of this years Cum Laude staff to make up for last years mistake's, and we feel that they succeeded in every way.

school life at g.l.a.

"Who can spread his hours before him, saying, 'This for God and this for myself; This for my soul, and this other for my body?'

All your hours are wings that beat through space from self to self.

Your daily life is your temple and your religion.

Whenever you enter into it take with you your all.

Take the plough and the forge and the mallet and the lute,

The things you have fashioned in necessity or for delight.

For in revery you cannot rise above your achievements nor fall lower than your failures.

And take with you all men:

For in adoration you cannot fly higher than their hopes nor humble yourself lower than their despair.

And if you would know God be not therefore a solver of riddles.

Rather look about you and you shall see Him playing with your children.

And look into space; you shall see Him walking in the clouds, outstretching His arms in the lightning and descending in rain.

You shall see Him smiling in flowers, then rising and waving His hands in trees."

The school year 1970-1971 saw the development of a tumbling team for G.L.A. The idea was accepted with much enthusiasm which died when we discovered how little we knew and could do. But it was quickly brought back to life again with the help of Mr. Brace, and also Jay Mortensen, who took time to come-and teach us how to do many routines.

Then came our first program. Were we scared? That's putting it mildly. But all of us worked together to help each other, which made our second program a lot easier. Although we're a far cry from the "Gymnics" now, the G.L.A. Tumbling Team might just give them a little competition someday. Who knows?!

the first step is # to get acquainted

The setting for this year's Halloween Party was Miller's barn. The only access to the party was a tunnel. There seemed to be a problem with kids getting "lost" in the tunnel. Once in the barn there were all kinds of games, and of course, the judging of the costumes. Kathy Roedsens, in the form of a clown pulled first prize. Perhaps the highlight of the evening was when Mr. Brace dunked for apples, or did someone dunk him? In spite of a few pranks, everyone had lots of fun.

The freshman child, so quaint and meek,
Had a crush on the sophomore freak.

The sophomore freak, with his head awhirl,
Desperately loved the junior girl.

The junior girl, in her big sedan,
Gave her love to the senior man.

The senior man, so flighty and wild,
Secretly loved the freshman child.

Bob,
Its been a swell
year. Hope to see
ya next year.
Stay sweet and have fun this summer.

Hey Bob—
To the champion jump-roper of the freshman class.
Keep at it, kid.
It's really been fun knowing ya—and having ya in P.E. class.
Stay your own cool self. ok?
Good luck,
